Please note that no integration implementation activities will begin until after we close.

To reiterate, until the closing, we continue to be two separate organizations, and there should be no coordination in our work with clients or other constituencies between the two companies. If you have questions about specific projects, please discuss them with your manager.

Employee/Organizational FAQs

Q: As a Convergys employee, what does this mean for me? What changes should I expect?

A: Until close, we remain two separate companies in all respects. This means we will continue to operate as usual at Convergys and there is no immediate change to anyone's role.

For most people, there will be limited changes, even over the long term. As a 115,000-person organization, the work most people do today will need to be done tomorrow and long after.

To the extent there are changes that impact our people and our teams, Concentrix is committed to communicating those with transparency and clarity throughout the integration planning process and beyond.

As leaders, our job is to keep ourselves and our teams focused on our clients – it is as critical as ever during this time of transition to deliver with excellence. The best way to preserve jobs long term is to ensure we are also preserving and growing our current revenue.

Change is difficult, and as leaders we need to help our teams navigate this change. The good news is that this acquisition brings positive developments for our people, including:

- Industry leadership – the combined organization will be a leading player in our industry worldwide
- Significant benefits that result from the diversification of the revenue base as the company becomes part of a much larger, Fortune 500 organization. In particular, for our teams, it means energy and investments can be directed to additional strategic priorities and projects.
- Expanded geographic footprint and capabilities for our clients
- Even more career and growth opportunities for our people
- A culture similar to our own – focused on clients and top talent – means that integration should go smoothly

Please continue to remind your teams to be open to the opportunities ahead. Indeed, through this transaction, we are combining assets to benefit our clients and move our industry forward, and to work with other people who value the same things we do – our people and our clients.

Q: As a site leader, what should I tell my site?

A: Please meet with your leadership teams as soon as possible and share with them the importance of staying focused on the day-to-day priorities and our clients. It is as critical as ever during this time of transition to deliver with excellence.

The best way to preserve jobs long term is to continue to preserve and grow our revenue. For the vast majority of our people, especially those on the front lines, this acquisition will not change the critical role they play in ensuring our clients and their customers get the service they expect and deserve.

This acquisition brings positive developments for our people:

- Industry leadership – the combined organization will be a leading player in our industry worldwide
- There are significant benefits that result from the diversification of the revenue base as the company becomes part of a much larger, Fortune 500 organization. In particular, for our teams, it means energy and investments can be directed to additional strategic priorities and projects.
- Expanded geographic footprint and capabilities for our clients
- This combination means even more career and growth opportunities for our people
- A culture similar to our own – focused on clients and top talent – means that integration should go smoothly

Q. Will we close or consolidate sites?

A: Concentrix has indicated that there is no plan to close any locations at this point. The integration will take some time. If there are cities or locations in which we both have a presence, and there is capacity, it may make sense to consider consolidation.

It is important for our teams to remember that strong performance is the most important way we keep a location relevant to our clients. Therefore, it is critical for every employee and site to remain focused on delivering top performance throughout close and integration. Regardless of whether we serve clients from one or more sites, our goal is to meet or exceed all key client metrics.

Q. Will my manager change?

A. Until close, we remain two separate companies in all respects. This means we will continue to operate as usual at Convergys and there is no immediate change to anyone's role or responsibilities.

Any decisions about how our teams will be structured or integrated following the close will be communicated in advance. We are committed to keeping all employees informed and will strive to communicate in a transparent fashion.

Q: What about the synergy target?

As in any acquisition of this size, there will be synergies as the leadership team works to combine the two companies. In our case, the cost-savings will primarily come from the combination of two sets of infrastructure. Concentrix is committed to communicating any changes that may impact our people and teams with transparency and clarity throughout the integration planning process and beyond.

For most people, there will be limited changes, even over the long term. As a 115,000-person organization, the work most people do today will need to be done tomorrow and long after. We believe this acquisition will bring positive developments for our people upon close:

- Industry leadership – the combined organization will be a leading player in our industry worldwide
- There are significant benefits that result from the diversification of the revenue base as the company becomes part of a much larger, Fortune 500 organization. In particular, for our teams, it means energy and investments can be directed to additional strategic priorities and projects.
- Expanded geographic footprint and capabilities for our clients
- This combination means even more career and growth opportunities for our people
- A culture similar to our own – focused on clients and top talent – means that integration should go smoothly

Q: Are we allowed to recruit and hire people between today and close?

A: Please work with your manager and SVP, as needed, to determine hiring needs until close. It may make sense to hire for some positions, especially those connected to operational delivery.

Q: What about severance?

A: Concentrix recognizes the role our employees play in our company's success, and ultimately, we believe that our combination with Concentrix will provide new opportunities for career growth and advancement, as part of a larger, more diversified company. For the vast majority of our people, especially those on the front lines, this acquisition will not change the critical role they play in ensuring our clients and their customers get the service they expect and deserve.

In situations in which there are changes as a result of the acquisition, no organizational changes will occur until after the closing of the acquisition, which we estimate will take place by the end of the 2018 calendar year. While it is difficult to predict any outcomes at this time, we are committed to treating all employees with respect and dignity throughout this process. Concentrix has committed to honoring the terms of the existing Convergys severance plans for at least two years following the closing of the acquisition.

Q: [For Directors and Above]: What about my RSUs/PRSUs that haven't vested?

A: Awards that vest prior the closing of the transaction will vest as normal, as Convergys stock. Awards that have not vested as of the closing date will be converted into a cash award based on the value of the merger consideration. For PRSUs, performance will be determined at closing in accordance with the merger agreement and they will convert into time-based cash awards. These cash awards will vest and be paid as follows:

- Cash in respect of awards granted prior to March 31, 2016 will be paid promptly following the closing of the transaction
- Cash in respect of awards granted on or after March 31, 2016 will, subject to continued employment, vest and be paid on the regularly scheduled vesting dates, subject to the terms of the award agreement

Q: What if an employee with RSUs or PRSUs is terminated after the closing of the transaction but before the vesting date?

A: Under the terms of the Convergys award agreements, if an employee is terminated without Good Cause or resigns for Good Reason following the closing of the transaction, the employee's converted cash awards will accelerate and be paid in full promptly following the termination. Please see your equity award agreements for more information.

Q: What about awards that are due to be granted in August?

A: We will have a normal equity grant cycle in August.

Q: Will Andrea continue to be CEO until close? Who will lead the combined organization after close?

A: Yes. It is expected that Andrea will remain President and CEO of Convergys until the transaction closes. Concentrix President, Chris Caldwell will lead the combined organization following acquisition close.

Q: What about the remainder of the management team and leadership? Will they remain as part of the combined organization?

A: The current plan is for the organization to "lift and shift" as is, reporting to Concentrix President Chris Caldwell, at close. We expect some initial duplication, but all organizational decisions will be made thoughtfully throughout the transition period. It is also important to note that Concentrix has retained many talented top leaders from previous acquisitions as part of its current executive leadership team.

Q: Where will company headquarters be located?

A: The combined company headquarters will be the current Concentrix company headquarters in Fremont, California.

Q: Will the Cincinnati site close?

A: Concentrix has indicated that there is no plan to close any locations at this point. The talent Convergys employees bring to the table is one of the key drivers of the acquisition. While the headquarters of the combined company will be in Fremont, CA, the incredibly valuable work being done today from Cincinnati will continue to be important after close.

Q: Will Convergys fully integrate with Concentrix or operate as a stand-alone organization?

A: After the transaction closes, the organizations will be fully integrated and operate as one organization. We expect the integration to be complete 12 months after the transaction closes.

Q: Will the Convergys brand go away?

A: The combined organization will operate under the Concentrix name and brand. This transition will be planned and executed after close.

Q: How long will integration take?

A: We expect the integration to be completed 12 months after close.

Q: What should I tell vendors or partners who ask me about the acquisition?

A: You should express enthusiasm for the combination, but not speculate on how, if at all, this transaction may affect vendors and partners. For now and until the close, we are continuing to operate as usual, including with our vendors and partners. For additional details, you can direct them to the press release posted on our website. Any updates related to specific vendor agreements will be worked through after close and during the integration period.

Q: What do I do if someone on my team asks a question I cannot answer?

A: Please talk to your manager to help work through any questions not answered in this guide. You may also email questions to questions@convergys.com.

Q: What should I do if a member of the news media calls?

A: Please refer all global media inquiries to:

Compensation & Benefits-Related Questions

Q: We expect employees to have many questions regarding their compensation, benefits, and the future of their role. Unfortunately, due to the nature of the acquisition process, we will not be able to answer many of them until after close.

A: Concentrix recognizes the role our employees play in our company's success, and ultimately, we believe that our combination with Concentrix will provide new opportunities for career growth and advancement, as part of a larger, more diversified company. However, it is early in this process and compensation and benefit matters will be determined and communicated to you near or after closing of the merger.

Until close, by law we must remain as two entirely separate companies, in all respects. Some of these HR-related questions will be able to be answered upon close, and we expect that all will be answered thoughtfully and clearly as a part of the integration planning process.

Sample questions for managers and HR business partners to expect:

- o Will my pay stay the same after the acquisition is complete?

- o Will we stay on direct deposit?
- o How will our benefits be affected?
